Helping young Queensland creatives build their profiles by getting connected, gaining exposure and being recognised.

Young people are a key part of Queensland's Creative Industries and provide the state with artistic vitality and professional skill. YPCQ is about all the young performers, media makers, indigenous artists, musicians, writers, painters, designers, community artists, change-makers, producers, arts workers and creative entrepreneurs making a difference in their community every day!

Find out about what young people are doing and what inspires them by searching our database. And then get in touch! Young People Creating Queensland is your opportunity to identify young creative types and projects in your area.
